SHARED SENTENCES is a 90-minute play exploring the toll of incarceration on families and loved ones. The story follows Olivia, a lonely aspiring artist, who finds herself in a United Prison Families meeting, a support group for those with an incarcerated loved one. The play explores the complicated dynamics of race, class, experience, education, and privilege among individuals joined by shared trauma, and celebrates the strength we find in supporting each other.

“[The play is] a dance between hope and sadness from the dark into the light.”-- SHARED SENTENCES Audience Member, November 9, 2022

“Whether the subject is trauma, addiction, poverty, stress, or injustice, the overarching message of Houses on the Moon’s work is that life’s burdens are easier to shoulder when they’re shared. Theatre can be a home for anyone who is searching, from here to the moon and back.”-
-Alexandra Pierson, American Theatre Magazine

PROJECT HISTORY

SHARED SENTENCES began in 2018 with interviews of people with incarcerated loved ones: parents, siblings, partners, and friends who wanted to share their stories. Following the initial interviews, Houses on the Moon facilitated an 8-week storytelling workshop series with a select group of individuals, including an 84-year-old former elementary school teacher whose mentally ill husband murdered his father over 50 years ago; a 25-year-old transgender man whose parents have both been incarcerated throughout his life; and a 40-year-old daughter whose father has been serving a life sentence since she was three years old. Working with the play's artistic team, playwright Emily Joy Weiner adapted stories and experiences from this group into an original play. SHARED SENTENCES had its Off-Broadway world premiere at 122 CC (150 First Avenue, NYC) from October 26-November 12, 2022.

SHARED SENTENCES was originally developed by Houses on the Moon Theater Company with further development at Bethany Arts Community and Regina A. Quick Center for the Arts at Fairfield University.

WORD OF MOUTH

“Shared Sentences delivers a dramatic and lasting experience for the audience: the story shocks us with the quiet power of emotionally damaged people to go beyond conflicts to give each other deeply needed compassion, respect, and humanity.” –Tita Anntares, Garden State Journal

“Presented with compassionate humor...the audience learns of the presumptions that are often made of the incarcerated and the common issues those who care for them must encounter.”--Michael Dale, OnstageBlog.com.

“The actors were superlative... You don't want to miss this!”
